

During recent flood in Pittsburgh. During the day, evening, WPXI had continuous coverage - but it was not captioned. It seems if you are deaf, you are supposed to wait for the 5 pm news to find out what is going on. The rules say emergency situations where there is aural information made available, it should also be captioned. I think this situation definitely qualifies, and hope you will look into it, not only with WPXI, but all stations.
